

ARIZONA CHILDREN'S HOME NIGHT TO BE OBSERVED AT ELKS

Previously acknowledged $128.00
Received yesterday 17.50

Total for fund $145.50
Great oaks from little acorns grow. Slowly the $500 fund for the little homeless and fatherless children of the state is mounting and if the good people of Phoenix and vicinity bear in mind this excellent cause and each one give a little, the quota of $500 for this city, which lacks but $500 of being completed, will soon be raised.

Tonight is Arizona Children's Home night at the Elks theater. Everyone who attends the excellent Hambridge-Karns stock company performance of that delightful comedy, "Daddy Long-Legs," which is the bill this week, will be given an opportunity to aid the little orphans of the state.

"Daddy Long-Legs" itself is the story of an orphan girl, Judy Abbott, who spends many years in such an institution, but is then taken away and grows up to become a fine lady. In the story of the Arizona Children's Home drive in The Republican yesterday morning the festive type made it read that "The Arizona Children's home is NOW conducted in the rigid manner portrayed in the comedy being played at the Elks," when of course it should have read "is NOT conducted."

Those who attend the presentation of "Daddy Long-Legs" at the Elks tonight not only will see a most enjoyable play, but will be given an opportunity to assist the little orphans of Arizona. There should be a capacity audience at the Elks theater tonight. The drive to complete the last $500 of the $5000 quota for this city will continue today. A small amount contributed from each person would soon raise the needed $500. Remember the little ones and send your donation either to the office of The Republican or to Mrs. W. W. Edwards, chairman of the drive for Maricopa county, 1104 North Second street.

NAME CONTEST OF AUTOMOBILE CLUB TO CLOSE MONDAY

Not since the days of the famous conundrum, "How old is Ann?" has so much interest been displayed among young and old as is now being taken in the name contest of the Automobile Club of Arizona.

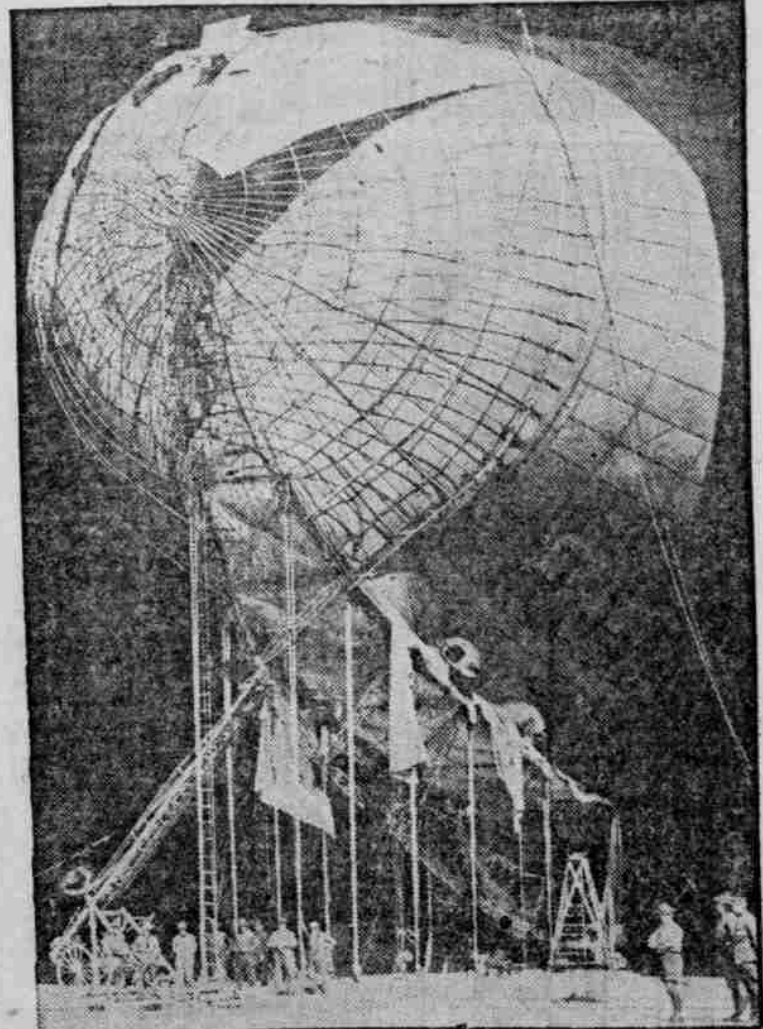

The club is minus a name for the little monthly publication which is sent to club members all over the state, and is offering two prizes for a suitable title. The first prize consists of $10 in cash, together with a yearly membership valued at $12.

The second prize is a membership by itself, but in either event the membership may be sold by the winner and will be made out as directed.

The contest closes Nov. 1. No suggestions will be received after that date, so it behooves all who think they have enough originality in their make-up to suggest a good catchy name for the publication to get busy at once. All letters containing suggestions which show a postmark of Oct. 21 or earlier will be considered by the judges, but none which has been posted after this date. The judging will take place Nov. 2, and the announcement of the name selected and the prize winners will be made shortly thereafter.

Several hundred names have been sent in from all parts of the state. Several of the titles are suggestive of parts of an automobile, such as accelerator, spark plug and the like. Others have attempted to make the title suggestive of the desert, such as Sahara, Cactus, etc. Still others are suggestive of auto touring, such as Touring Topics, a name, by the way, which is already in use with a similar publication.

In selecting a name, the officers point out that it need not be all one word. Several words or a catchy phrase may be utilized as a title and may suit the judges just as well as a single word, just so it carries a punch or tells a story.

The new magazine, the first copy of which was issued without a name, will contain a wealth of information concerning Arizona's wonderland and will give detailed descriptions of several trips in addition to regular reports on the activities of the club. These facts should be borne in mind by the contestant.

Each contestant is limited to three suggestions, which should be written on one side of a blank piece of paper bearing the name and address of the contestant. These suggestions should be sent to Automobile Club of Arizona, Chamber of Commerce Building, Phoenix, Arizona.

STATE ASKS CLAIM AS DEPOSITOR BE GIVEN PREFERENCE

For the first time the question of the state being a preferred creditor will be tried out when the state makes application to the superior court of Cochise county in the matter of the Central Bank of Wilcox, which some time ago was placed in the hands of a receiver.

Raymond Earhart, state treasurer, has asked that the prior right of the state to that individual be recognized by the bank, and the bank has not conceded the claim. It is said. The treasurer then requested the attorney general to take the matter into court, where the question of law will be tried out. The state under the old common law claims the state supreme and following the announcement that the bank was to make a payment of 10 cents on the dollar the state asked that its deposit be made good.

When the bank failed it was given out that the state's deposit amounted to $25,000. Of this amount $20,000 has been paid, having been secured by bonds of the National Surety company. The remaining $5,000 was covered by a Central Finance company bond secured by notes. The attorney general's office states yesterday that it had no way of determining the security at this time.

The value of security given for state funds in other banks that have closed was not given out yesterday. The state funds, with securities, in banks have not yet been reported as reported by Treasurer Earhart yesterday, were as follows:

Bank of Arizona at Snowflake—No state funds, the $2,000 on deposit having been secured by the Maryland Casualty company, which paid the claim.
Hobbs State Bank—$3,000 in Liberty bonds, $10,000 Southern Surety company bond on $2,000 deposit. Surety company paid $5,000 on account of $9,000 and it is now being determined whether the Liberty bonds or the surety company pay the remaining $3,000.

Glendale State Bank—American Surety bond for $10,000, which account was paid in full.
Central Bank of Wickenburg—Had deposit of state funds amounting to $5,000. The First National Surety company paid $10,000 and the state holds $25,000 worth of Central Finance corporation bonds another Central Finance company bond of $50,000, and $25,000 in 6 per cent Central Finance corporation farm mortgage bonds, and also holds $7,738 in bankable paper and additional security of $7,500 shares of Copper-Henderson Oil company stock, which has a par value of $1. Part of the security is alleged to be worthless.

First National Bank of Tombstone—American Surety company bond of $10,000, while the state's deposit was $5,000.

Shoe Factories Propose Cut In Employees Wages

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 27.—Proposals for an immediate twenty per cent reduction in the wages of the 13,000 shoe workers in factories affiliated with the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association were submitted to the workers' union yesterday for approval.

Under an agreement with the unions, changes in rates of pay are effective only when both sides are agreed such a change is necessary to stimulate business.

Meetings of the union councils will be held Friday night when the proposal will be taken up.

DRAMATIC READER TO APPEAR AT HIGH SCHOOL NEXT WEEK

Mrs. Leola S. Creager of the University of Arizona, a dramatic reader of Shakespeare's plays, will appear at the high school auditorium on Friday evening, November 4, by arrangement of the students of the Phoenix Junior College. The receipts will go toward the maintenance of athletic activities.

This event will add materially to the season's program, for it brings to Phoenix a reader of the highest attainments. Mrs. Creager received the degree of bachelor of oratory from Lebanon University, Ohio, and then did graduate work at Curry's School of Expression in Boston. She was a private student of W. W. Savage, of Stratford-on-Avon, England, (the birthplace of Shakespeare) where she perfected herself as a reader of the great poet's works. Mrs. Creager has had several successful seasons on the stage; this year she has made a tour of the northwest, where she was enthusiastically received; she was also a special lecturer for the summer session at the Northern Arizona Normal school at Flagstaff. She is the wife of Professor J. O. Creager, dean of the school of education of the University of Arizona.

"Mrs. Creager is a woman of exceptional training and splendid power of interpretation in the field of dramatic literature," said Professor Harvey L. Ely, of the University of California, last month. "This added to her fine personality and charm have secured for her unusual commendation of her work. I am glad to know that Mrs. Creager has at last consented to widen her large circle of friends and to extend to many others the rare privilege of hearing her splendid interpretations of our greatest dramatists."

It is particularly gratifying to the junior college students to be able to announce this event, for they feel that Phoenix seldom has the opportunity of enjoying so rare a treat.

BOTH ATHLETE AND SCOLAR

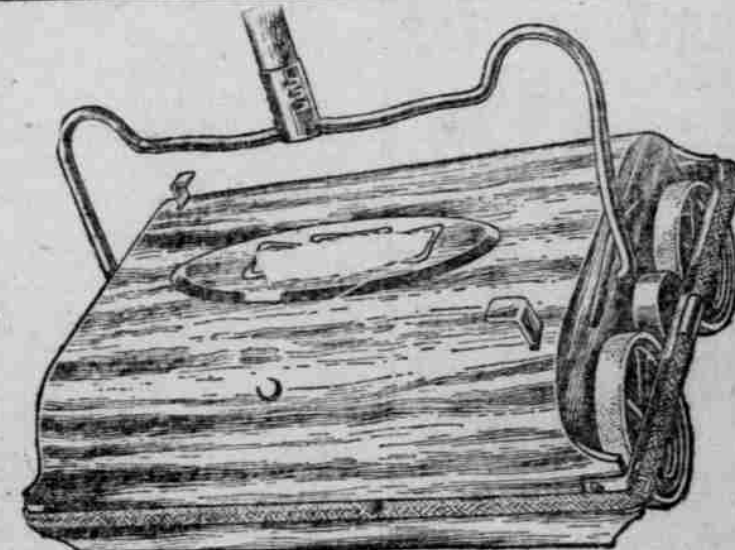

Washington—If it be true that the youth of the United States of today is attracted to ramble in intellectual fields because it sees there great griddons laid out, towering goal posts, the earth skinned in diamond shape, then it may reasonably be supposed that it will eagerly follow the leadership of the new commissioner of education—because he is an internationally noted athlete, and a college president when only 27 years old. He is now 29.

John James Tigert, while winning all sorts of academic, classical, jurisprudence and oratorical honors at Vanderbilt university and Oxford, yet won equal honors on the athletic fields. At Vanderbilt—which, by the way, was founded as a result of a visit by Tigert's grandfather many years ago to Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, whom he induced to make a contribution of 1 million dollars for that purpose—Tigert was on the varsity football team three years, an all-southern fullback, and three years on the varsity basketball team, being captain of both football and basketball teams. While at Oxford he represented Pembroke college in rowing, tennis and cricket and was a member of the All-Rhodes baseball team. During the World War he spent two years overseas, going over for educational work with the Y. M. C. A. and winding up as lecturer with the army of occupation.
